

Dr Vitaly NAPADOW

Vitaly Napadow is an Associate Professor at the Martinos Center for Biomedical Imaging at Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School in Boston, MA, where he is also the Director of the Center for Integrative Pain Neuroimaging (CiPNI). Vitaly also holds a secondary appointment at the Pain Management Center at Brigham and Women's Hospital, where he practices acupuncture. He received his Ph.D. in biomedical engineering from the Harvard-MIT Health Sciences and Technology program and a Masters degree from the New England School of Acupuncture (NESA). Dr. Napadow's laboratory has pioneered the application of non-invasive neuroimaging techniques to better understand the brain circuitry underlying aversive perceptual states, and to better understand how therapies such as acupuncture ameliorate these states. Dr. Napadow is also the co-President of the Society for Acupuncture Research and has more than 100 publications in leading peer-reviewed journals, many of them contributing to acupuncture neuroimaging research.
