

Professor CHAI, Ke-Qun

Kequn Chai, Chief Physician, Doctoral supervisor, Doctor of Medicine, Professor, the prestigious TCM doctors in Zhejiang Province, special expert receiving national allowance by State Council, takes charge of the director of TongDe hospital of Zhejiang Province, the academic president of State key clinical department of cancer which is built by both State Administration of Traditional Chinese Medicine of China and National Health and Family Planning Commission of China, Vice director of cancer branch of China Medical Association of Minorities, Vice director of Zhejiang Association of Chinese Medicine, Vice director of Zhejiang Province Association of Chinese Integrative Medicine, Chief-editor of Zhejiang Journal of Traditional Chinese Medicine and other academic posts.

Doctor.Chai has been engaging in prevention and treatment of tumor through Traditional Chinese Medicine more than 30 years, especially specializing in TCM and Chinese Integrative Medicine treatment on carcinomas of lung, stomach, liver, colon and rectum, breast and others. During the progress he insists “strengthening health Qi” as the basic principle on tumor treatment, and establishes and improves his own Tumor treatment methods of traditional Chinese medicine constantly, which contains four basic methods at present: tonifying spleen and nourishing kidney, eliminating phlegm and toxic, soothing liver to relieve qi stagnation, warming yang and dispelling coldness. These methods should be practiced flexibly in cancer treatment for the promotion of patients physical and mental health, alleviation of cancer related symptoms and improvement of the quality of life. So far more than 100 thousands of tumor patients receive various benefits from his clinic work and this number is still increasing nowadays. What’s more, he takes part in promoting the Traditional Chinese medicine international exchanges and cooperation vigorously, recently his speech has been held in America, England, Japan, Canada and regions.